es the potential of existing markets such as India," he added.

Satish Khanna, general manager of Al Fajer Information and Services, co-organiser of the exhibition, said that even as the "industry has not been very vibrant right now" because of the fluctuations in oil prices, things are already looking up.

"The market is bouncing back and starting from this year, I am predicting a growth of 7.5 to 10 per cent," he said. "The bulk of the demand will continue to come from the packaging industry, which is growing at a steady rate in the region. Also, a clear rise in demand can also be seen in the pharmaceutical sector, which is slowly shifting away from using glass products to plastic products."

According to the International Energy Agency, oil demand for petrochemicals is likely to grow by about three per cent a year between 2015 and 2021, with petrochemicals taking a more significant proportion of the oil barrel.

"The UAE enjoys two differential advantages over Asia and Europe that facilitates the production of petrochemicals: feedstock and logistics, which facilitate to attract new investments and alliances to the region," said Khanna.

Regional governments continue to support the growth of this sector and encourage investments in its sub-sectors. "Downstream plastic industry is one of [such sectors] as the UAE is highly investing in five major industries including automotive, consumer appliances, plastic packaging, construction and metals processing," he added.

GCC's $108b chemicals industry takes centrestage at ArabPlast

Staff Report

DUBAI — The UAE and Saudi Arabia account for 74 per cent of the GCC's $108 billion chemicals industry, the region's second largest within the manufacturing sector that provides over 500,000 direct and indirect jobs.

Organisers of ArabPlast 2017, a trade show for the plastics industry opening on Sunday at the Dubai International Convention and Exhibition Centre, said the UAE and Saudi Arabia produce 13.7 million and 98.5 million tonnes of petrochemical products per year respectively.

Satish Khanna, general manager of the show organiser, said that ArabPlast is one of the biggest three global events dedicated to plastics, petrochemicals and rubber industries. It brings together exhibitors, experts and industrialists from the GCC region and all over the world. The latest edition of ArabPlast is supported by Borouge, a provider of plastics solutions, and Tansne.

Hazem Sultan Al Suwaidi, SVP regional M&E at Borouge, said: "Borouge is committed to continue

Spritzgießmaschinen-Hersteller

Engel auf der Arabplast 2017

25.11.2016 - Die Verpackungsbranche steht im Fokus des Messeauftritts von Engel auf der Arabplast 2017. Der Spritzgießmaschinen-Hersteller zeigt dazu an seinem Stand mehrere Systemlösungen.

Der Markt für Getränkeverschlüsse wächst im Nahen Osten sehr schnell. Daher feiert Engel dort mit seinen voll elektrischen Spritzgießmaschinen der Baureihe E-Cap Der Messeauftritt ist damit Ausdruck der Geschäftsentwicklung von Engel im arabischen Raum. So wächst der Markt für Getränkeverschlüsse in der Region sehr schnell. Daher feiert Engel dort mit seinen voll elektrischen Spritzgießmaschinen der Baureihe E-Cap Verkaufserfolge. „In den Vereinigten Arabischen Emiraten zum Beispiel arbeiten inzwischen alle namhaften Abfüller und Produzenten von Getränkeverschlüssen mit Engel-Technologie“, freut sich Andreas Leitner, Sales Director Middle East von Engel. Die meisten Projekte umfassen neben der Maschine das Werkzeug, weitere Peripherie und die integrierte Qualitätskontrolle.
